

Agenda Item for Review

Criteria for Plumbing Journeyman Practical Exam in a school lab setting.

RESIDENTIAL:

1. Rough in a bathroom group (one water closet, one lavatory, and one shower or bathtub) (using code approved materials.)
2. Rough in a kitchen sink for hard and soft water. (using code approved materials)
3. Rough in a water softener loop (using code approved materials)
4. Rough in the water for a water heater including the T & P drain line (using code approved materials)
5. Rough in for a clothes washer (using code approved materials.)
6. The applicant shall not be required to glue any fittings nor crimp or solder the pipe and fittings.
7. Build an independent water loop for pressure test purposes as required by the Division of Building Safety (that will hold an air test) (using code approved materials)

PUBLIC USE:

1. Rough in for a water closet (with a carrier). (using code approved materials)
2. Rough in for a lavatory (with a carrier). (using code approved materials)

3. Rough in for a urinal (with a carrier). (using code approved materials)
4. Rough in for a floor sink and floor drain. (using code approved materials)
5. Rough in the water for a water heater including the T & P drain line (using code approved materials)
6. The applicant shall not be required to glue any fittings nor crimp or solder the pipe and fittings.
7. Build an independent water loop for pressure test purposes as required by the Division of Building Safety (that will hold an air test) (using code approved materials)

#8 - #11 Shall apply for both residential and public use

8. The applicant shall be required to contact the Division of Building Safety notifying them as to the time and location of the test.
9. A proctor shall spot check the student during the exam. The Division of Building Safety shall be responsible to inspect and pass or fail the completed exam.
10. The school administering the exam shall be allowed to charge a reasonable fee.
11. State of Idaho apprentices and out of state apprentices shall have the right to choose the lab environment or an actual job site in progress exam.